WOMAN'S WORLD.

THE FIREMAN'S COFFEE CART INVENTED BY MRS. RUSSELL

Merit Recognized at Last—Mending Straw Hat—Fashion versus Cleanliness—A Haven of Rest—Growth of Lunch Clubs—A Woman's Encyclopedia.

The temperance woman of Minneapolis have been doing their share of work, and their latest achievement in the form of a firemen's coffee cart is a novelty which any city world do well to copy.

The cart is called Mrs. Russell's fireman's coffee cart, for the idea of building it originated with Mrs. E. A. Russell, who is a most zealous temperance worker and manager of the W. C. T. U. coffee house of Minneapolis and national superintendent of the coffee house department of the W. C. T. U. The cart cost $150, besides the necessary equipments, which were $50 more. Over $500 was secured from the city council, and Mrs. Russell managed to raise the rest so do so effectively.

Dresses, for the sake of health and cleanliness of their wearers' and their homes, should be made to clear the ground by about two inches.—Cor. London Tit-Bits.

The cart is nearly as large as an ice wagon, though in shape it resembles an old fashioned English coach. Seen from the front it has the appearance of a very handsome delivery wagon, and it is painted in very gaudy colors. The four wheels are bright red.

Inside the wagon and directly back of the partition which separates the driver's seat from the rest of the wagon are two large coffee boilers or tanks, underneath which is a cylindrical gasoline heating apparatus. The upper part of the wagon widens on each side just back of the driver's seat, allowing counters to project over the back wheels; under these counters on the inside are shelves and drawers. The sides of the wagon above the counters open outwardly, making a projecting roof when the wagon is on duty. A rear door and step give easy access to the interior.

The wagon was used for the first time a few days ago, when a three story saloon and blind factory burned. The cart was drawn up in front of a saloon and stood there for four hours, and the firemen were served with hot coffee and sandwiches.

The coffee is served by two or three men from inside the cart; it is possible to make ten gallons of coffee in twenty minutes.

The cart is kept at Station H of the fire department, and is controlled by the fire department.—Maud Corbett in Chicago Woman's News.

Merit Recognized as Last.

The recent appointment of Dr. Mary Putnam Jacobi as visiting physician to St. Mark's hospital marks the first yielding of professional prejudice in favor of a woman doctor at a man's hospital. There are many women's hospitals controlled by women physicians, but this is the first and only instance in this country of a woman being admitted to a man's hospital in a professional capacity. France anticipated the United States six years ago by the appointment of an American, Miss Klumpp, as house physician in the Paris hospital. Repeated efforts have been made in New York and elsewhere in behalf of able and learned women physicians, but hospital boards have remained until now obdurate. In fact St. Mark's is the only hospital that permits any recognized physician to send his patient there and administer to him himself.

Dr. Jacobi was educated in New York, Philadelphia and Paris. Applying to the dean of the Medical college of France in 1865 for permission to take the examination, she was refused on the ground that the institution had no precedent as regards women students. The plucky American referred the dean to the Fifteenth century, to be told that such a precedent was too old to have weight in the present age. A letter from Minister Washburn to the French minister of instruction compelled the dean to reluctantly yield.

"The whim of some wild American girl," wrote the French minister soothingly. "There can be no harm in humor-ing her."

The manner in which she took the examination compelled the admiration and respect of the faculty and she was admitted to the regular course, receiving for her valedictory thesis a silver medal. At the conclusion of her medical studies she was married to Dr. A. Jacobi.—New York Sun.

Mending Straw Hats.

It is convenient to know how to repair straw hats, as those of the children of the household get sadly battered in brim and crown. One should always keep one old straw hat of each of the ordinary colors—black and brown and white—to supply materials for repairing, and to this end it is wise to avoid buying the fancy straws, as the plain braids are much more durable and useful. Black thread No. 40 is used for all sewing of straw, except the finest grades of handsewn hats, and the domestic milliner may well follow the trade rule. The straw should be wet or dampened as it is sewed, as this will prevent its breaking.

When a brim is ragged rip off the torn braid, and taking a braid that matches, deftly weave the ends together and sew around the hat's edge as many rows as are wished. The brim can be made to turn down by stretching the upper edge of the braid tightly as it is sewed, or made to roll up by holding the upper edge of the braid loosely, the mender guiding the results by her taste and judgment as she sews. Torn crowns are replaced in the same way. Braids that do not match can be utilized whenever the trimming will hide the patch, and unfashionable low crowns may thus be transformed into those of any desired height.—Harper's Bazaar.

Fashion versus Cleanliness.

It is not surprising that women who pride themselves on their personal cleanliness and firmly believe it ranks next to godliness should, in the face of the opinion of scientific men, of their own common sense if they give the object moment's consideration, be such blind devotees of fashion and the dictates of dressmakers as to wear the now fashionable trailing dresses?

Nothing can be brought forward in favor of this direct breach of the laws of health and cleanliness; for indoor wear, so much cannot be said against this fashion; but for outdoor wear where the filth of roads, pavements and street corners must be obvious to everyone, it should receive the strongest condemnation. In extenuation, some may say the dresses are raised by their wearers so as to clear the ground. That may be so in some cases, but very often the beauty (?) of the trailing garment proves irresistible, or else little or no thought is given to the matter, and frequently those who raise their dresses do not do so effectually.

Dresses, for the sake of health and cleanliness of their wearers' and their homes, should be made to clear the ground by about two inches.—Cor. London Tit-Bits.

A Best for Hard Working Women.

Miss Ida C. Clothier, of Boston, who has been actively engaged in the work of the young women's branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and also in the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor and the King's Daughters throughout the country, has undertaken the added work of providing a "rest" for young women.

She has secured a cottage at Manitou Springs, Colo., and will invite those young women who from force of circumstances cannot afford to take needed rest for brain and body. Her idea is not a cheap boarding place or sanitarium, but a real home, where she will entertain from twelve to fourteen guests at a time.

Miss Clothier asks those who are interested in this need among the class of young women who are brain workers and who are dependent upon their own exertions for their support to aid in providing this rest. If sufficient funds are secured nearly 200 young women can thus have two or three weeks' rest among the Rockies.

Mrs. Livermore is in hearty sympathy with the work.—Boston Letter.

The Growth of Lunch Clubs.

As an outgrowth of the labors of Miss Grace Dodge lunch clubs are being established in many quarters in the immediate neighborhood of factories, where the girls can procure wholesome food at reasonable rates. It is not possible for these to be self supporting at the very start, but as soon as they are so the association turns over the management to a committee of the girls themselves. In a few of these, besides the lunch room proper, there is a cheerful sitting room in which are found books, lounge, rocking chairs and perhaps a piano.

The most novel thing in this line is the step which has recently been taken by a large Boston dry goods establishment—that of providing a hall and piano for the recreation of their employees. Two teachers of gymnastics have been engaged, and between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m. the girls are relieved from duty in classes to enjoy the exercises. This is doubtless a means of making the store exceedingly popular, for there are many women who would give the preference in buying to a store which took such practical ways of making its employees happy.—Brooklyn Eagle.

More Than a Hundred Fold.

Four years ago Miss Lena Woodward, living on Thorn creek, Washington, sowed the seed from one head of barley. She harvested the crop with a pair of shears and sowed the amount received the next year, again harvesting it with her shears. The third crop her father cut with a grass scythe, getting enough barley from this crop to sow forty acres last spring, which averaged forty bushels to the acre when threshed, making a total yield of 1,600 bushels from one head of barley in four years.—Richards.

The movement of the friends of silver, the men who place State prosperity above party success, is assuming definite shape. In some counties in the State there are branches of the Silver League organized in every voting precinct, and in many of those precincts every voter has signed the pledge to vote for no man who is not unequivocally in favor of the free and unlimited coining of silver. In several parts of the State there are county leagues the executive committees of which suggested the organization of a State League similar to the Colorado League, and recommended that a State Convention be held at a time and place to be agreed upon by a majority of the Chairmen of the several County Leagues. In accordance with the recommendation, a call for a State Convention has been issued. The convention is to be composed of delegates selected by the several Silver Clubs on the basis of one delegate for each fifty members and for each fraction of twenty five or over, and it will meet at Reno Friday, June 24th, on which from day.

The people of Nevada, and in fact of the whole country, are emerging from the mist of party prejudice in which they have been enveloped for years. They are Republican and Democratic Convention controlled by Wall Street and differing only in the persons of the candidates whom they nominate, deceiving the people with financial sophistries which are contrived to mean monometallism in one section of the country, and bi-metallism in another. They see tariff and other protective leagues organized in the East to increase the price of many articles consumed in the West, and the men composing those leagues utterly ignoring Mr. Blaine's reciprocity suggestions by opposing by every means in their power the remonetization of silver, which is the principal product of a number of States, which pay heavy taxes on tools, machinery and many other articles used by the people engaged in the mining industry. They fail to see why a party should encourage a tariff or free trade league, and denounce a silver league, and they cannot understand why a tax on tin plate should be demanded on the pretthat it will give employment to several thousand persons, while condemning all attempts to repeal the Demonetization Act of 1873, which has thrown tens of thousands out of employment and depopulated villages in Nevada and other mining States and reduced the prices of farm products, fully thirty per cent.

The Silver League purpose making this a campaign of reason, not of prejudice; one of prosperity for the State not of monopoly for a few; one which will give silver a fixed value, making every dollar of 412 grains of standard fineness worth one hundred cents, and this without asking the Government to buy an ounce of the metal from miner or syndicate, not one to keep our principal product subject to the caprices and jobbing of brokers and speculators; one which will show a determined and united effort on the part of the people, to restore life to our dead mining camps and encourage the farmer by making a home market for his products, not one to benefit the few at the expense of the many; in short one that will double our population, which is now steadily decreasing, by giving the silver miner the coin value of his product instead of having the Government profit to the extent of from 25 to 30 cents, at his expense, on every silver dollar it coins.

What is there wrong with these propositions and why should not every citizen of Nevada who is not infatuated with a party name, or an office holder or office seeker approve them? It is true that fear of the party lash deters many from joining in a political movement intended solely to benefit the State, but the bosses cannot wield the whip, as they have done heretofore, and the year 1892 argues well for emancipation from partisan thralldom, and with the secret ballot law the cack will not be so potent a factor as it has been in determining elections.

ORGANIZED LABOR AGAINST REID'

In 1888 the New York Tribune, owned and conducted then as now by Whitelaw Reid, would not recognize Union printers and in a communication to Typographical Union No. 6 of New York City, Mr. Reid said:

"I would rather see Mr. Blaine sunk under an avalanche of votes than permit the Tribune office to be dictated to by any labor organization."

Last November the Tribune supported J. Sloat Fassett for Governor of New York and it was alleged that because it did so every Union printer in New York opposed the Tribune's choice as they have every body whence election it advocates.

Now the International Typographical Union is holding its annual session in Philadelphia, and many of its members have been interviewed on the subject of supporting Reid for Vice President. As far as ascertained there is not a visiting printer who will vote for Reid and very few if any of the Philadelphia printers will do so. The trouble with the Tribune is not settled, and if it should be it would be looked upon as a political dodge to influence voters. The stalwarts are opposed to Reid for supporting Greeley for the Presidency against Grant and will slay him, and nearly 200,000 men belonging to organized labor unions in New York are preparing a monster petition to the Republican National Committee to withdraw his name from the ticket. Those who expected him father-in-law, D. O. Mills, to open a "bar" in Nevada to carry the State for Reid will be doomed to disappointment, as all the "bars" and saloons that Mr. Mills can spare will be required in New York if Mr. Reid is kept on the ticket.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION.

The Prospects Growing More Favorable for Boies.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE

Another Cyclone—The Fox Mining Suit—Cost Bill—After an Outlaw—Proceedings of the Senate.

At Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The Democratic National Convention, it is expected, will get to actual work in shorter time than was the case at Minneapolis. Considerable fuss is expected over the New York delegation, but interviews with those on the ground show they nominate, deceiving the people with financial sophistries which are contrived to mean monometallism in one section of the country, and bi-metallism in another. They see tariff and other protective leagues organized in the East to increase the price of many articles consumed in the West, and the men composing those leagues utterly ignoring Mr. Blaine's reciprocity suggestions by opposing by every means in their power the remonetization of silver, which is the principal product of a number of States, which pay heavy taxes on tools, machinery and many other articles used by the people engaged in the mining industry. They fail to see why a party should encourage a tariff or free trade league, and denounce a silver league, and they cannot understand why a tax on tin plate should be demanded on the pret-

that it will give employment to several thousand persons, while condemning all attempts to repeal the Demonetization Act of 1873, which has thrown tens of thousands out of employment and depopulated villages in Nevada and other mining States and reduced the prices of farm products, fully thirty per cent.

SENATOR CALVIN S. BRICE, Chairman of the National Committee, arrived this afternoon and consulted with the other members of the National Committee on the ground. Brice was unable to say who the Temporary Chairman would be. He said, regarding his position as a dark horse: "Oh, I'm not in it this year. I'm not in a hurry." The Committee examined the Wigwam and pronounced the building safe in every particular. Col. J. G. Frasher, one of the National Committeemen, is the only prominent Missourian around to-day.

"My sympathies are with Cleveland," he said. "I entertain no doubt that he will be nominated. Certainly, he will get a solid vote from Missouri." In the Iowa headquarters this afternoon it was openly predicted that quite half the Missouri delegation would come to Boies if Cleveland did not get the nomination on the first three ballots. Some Indiana politicians are on the ground, although the delegation is not due till Saturday. Ben Willets of Warren county said: "Indiana's delegation would cast a vote for Cleveland, although some of them hoped to work Gray into a position which might come to something but there is no chance Indiana will support Hill. I believe Cleveland will win on the first ballot."

ANOTHER CYCLONE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 16.—A storm of wind and rain, which in some sections developed into a veritable cyclone, laid waste the southern and central portion of the State late yesterday afternoon and it will be some days before the full extent of the disaster is known. It is not known yet how many lives were lost.

Jackson, Martin, Faribault, Freeborn and Blue Earth counties were the scene of the storm, although it was very general all over the State.

The cyclone began to form near Jackson, and after sweeping across Martin and Faribault counties, scattered near Wells and took a northeasterly course. Suddenly it swept to the south and disappeared below Wells.

The loss of life will be very large, some estimates running as high as 100, although that is the extreme figure. It seems more probable that forty or fifty lives were destroyed, but the exact number cannot be given to-night. Everything in the path of the storm was swept from the earth. The houses and barns being splintered, trees and telegraph poles snapped off like pipe stems. Debris was strewn along the railroad tracks, so that where traffic is not interfered by washouts it is blocked by wrecks of buildings and trees. The freight train which left Mankato last night discovered a house on the track by a flash of lightning, revealing the presence just in time to avoid a wreck. An examination of the surroundings revealed half a dozen people lying among the broken timbers, all seriously and some fatally hurt.

After an Outlaw.

PHOENIX, June 16.—A report was received at the Sheriff's office this evening that the officers' posse of Yavapai county had got on the trail of Apache Kid, the notorious Indian outlaw again. The soldiers and posse followed the trail to the junction of Salt and Verde rivers, where it was lost. The soldiers refused to continue farther, but the officers crossed and found the trail several miles up the stream, which was continued by the aid of bloodhounds to a point within ten miles of the San Carlos Reservation, where it was lost again. The Indians throughout the region are growing alarmed over the Kid's propensity to kill squaws, and refuse to allow the squaws to go into the harvest fields. It is hoped this feeling on the part of the Indians will lead to active organization among themselves and result in hunting down the bandit.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—San Francisco, 13; San Jose, 7.

COST BILL IN HALE & NORRORS SUIT.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—The cost bill in the suit of M. W. For against the Hale and Norrors Mining Co. has been filed with the County Clerk. It is said to be the largest cost bill ever filed in the office. The total charges against the defendants foot up $18,201. The largest item is a charge of $13,040 made by R. M. Collins for examining the records of the Chollar, Potow, Savago and Hale & Norrors Mining Companies and of the U. S. Branch Mint at Carson, Nevada. Collins was engaged 652 days at this task and asks $20 a day for his services. P. H. Andros did similar work and put in a bill at the rate of $10 a day. H. W. Tongerman asks $1,075 for sampling ores in Virginia City in 1890, 1891 and 1892.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The silver bill was discussed by Morrill, who was replied to by Stewart, and it went over without action. The Anti-occupation bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee. A conference report on the River and Harbor bill was made by Frye, who stated that an agreement had been reached on all but two amendments, which were for boat and railway around the Dalles on the Columbia river and for a canal in the State of Washington. After a long session the Senate insisted on the amendments and agreed to a further conference. They then adjourned till Monday next.

House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The tin plate bill engrossed the attention of the House to-day, and but little interest was taken in the debate. The House adjourned without taking action on the bill.

There was a formidable array of empty seats in the Senate and House to-day. Some of the Senators and Representatives have already started from Washington for the Chicago Convention, some will leave to-night and to-morrow and many will remain here till Saturday evening.

Large Mining Sale.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The Central Creek Mining Company, which owns 219 acres in and around Webb City, embracing Webb and Smoker Flat lead and zinc mines, just sold its eight mines for upwards of $9,000,000, to the Holland and London Investment Company of England, and John D. Rockefeller, President of the Standard Oil Company. It is said this is one step in the lead and zinc trust.

Bandit Killed.

NOGALES, A. T., June 16.—Francisco Alzamorano, a noted bandit of the border and a murderer of half a dozen or more men and women, was shot and killed yesterday in Juarez, Sonora by another Mexican.

Senator J. F. Emmitt arrived yesterday from his ranch in Sierra Valley. He says the streams are high and full of fish out to the mountains. He says the fish from the affords in Sierra Valley to the ground.

There is a dangerous counterfeit silver dollar in circulation throughout Arizona and Southern California. The date is 1885, and the mint mark is the letter "O," representing that it was coined at New Orleans.

Prof. Hoakins' Juvenile band will furnish music for the exercises to be given by the High School on June 23d, and Hoakins' Orchestra of 7 pieces has been engaged to furnish music for the ball on the 24th. Fine music is insured with these combinations.

Governor Pennoyer of Oregon said the Democrats could easily have carried Oregon in the recent election had they not abandoned free coinage and endorsed Cleveland. The open treason to principle and blind loyalty of the convention to Cleveland cost the Democrats 10,000 votes.

Complaint is made that if a house is vacant for a few days hooligans make a practice of smashing the windows. Fortunately there are not many vacant houses in Reno, but wherever there is one the windows are said to be broken. The officers should keep a sharp lookout for the window smashers. A day in the "cooler" would doubtless have a good effect.

The Truxton Republican says: "The survey for the High Line ditch is being carried forward. The surveyors commenced at the highest point in Nevada which it was desired to overflow, and their work is now finished up to this side of the California line. Hon. F. G. Newlands is taking an active interest in the enterprise and has enlisted his wealthy friends. The ditch is an assured success."

The Wall Street organ pronounced the Silver League "dead, dead, dead" a week ago. Subsequently it resurrected the League and dubbed its members "bolters." Last night it conceded there were 225 names, mostly Italians on the roll. If it affords the organ any comfort to think that the Silver League is dead the League has no objections, but it will find it is to be a wonderfully lively corpse before the campaign is over.

THE RENO CONVENTION.

Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching. The Silver State, under the above head, refers to the Reno Convention, saying: In this issue will be found the call of the several county silver leagues for a State convention to be held at Reno on June 24, 1892, for the purpose of uniting in nomination a straight out and straight up free coinage electoral ticket for Nevada; the selecting of delegates to the Omaha National Convention and to the Mining Congress of the United States to be held at Helena, Mont., and to perfect a State organization for national victory and silver triumph.

This will be the most important gathering and union of the people of Nevada ever witnessed in this State. The people will meet in their representative capacity untrammeled by party shackles, and free from the dissension engendered by the aspirations of the office-seeking politicians. Principles before party. American manhood before party spoils. State pride and self respect rather than whooping up the Wall Street nominees of the d. o. p.'s. These are the sentiments which will actuate the Reno Convention.

Then let the party organs take snuff and the vanal crowd of camp-followers sneeze and spit and spout and groan and grunt, and snarl and snap, and snivel and dine, and wine and white, conni, calculate and speculate, preach, teach and prophesy, crow and ery, laugh and lie, and buck and kick, just as much as they like, but if they don't want to be left they'd better get aboard. They may get deck passage only but this is good enough till they get cleaned of the stench of mercenary journalism. Our sails are spread, steam is up and colors flying. The Silver State knows what it is doing and what the people are going to do. The present move of the people is not a spasmodic or convulsive effort, as the two old parties and hired allies do vainly hope. It is but the philosophical result of existing conditions; it is the voice of the great and mighty people; it is manifestly and unmistakably a result of educating the popular mind in political and economic measures. Our people are a reading, intelligent people and when their will is recognized, and the power of money and enslave is broken, such results will be succeeded by an era of peace and prosperity unparalleled in the history of a nation or in the people's cause.

A NATIVE SON.

Born Under Trying Circumstances. Last Sunday as the west-bound overland train was pulling out of Floriston, a man and woman were noticed standing on the track as if in trouble and apparently undecided as to what they should do. The woman seemed helpless, but the man assisted her to the depot. All the longgers about the depot were wondering what could be the matter. Some thought the woman was under the influence of liquor, while others held to different opinions.

It was raining at the time, and when Agent Black politely invited them into his office until the rain ceased, it was ascertained that neither the man or woman could speak a word of English. They sought shelter in the telegraph office, and were made as comfortable as possible by Mr. Black, who soon surmised the cause of the couple remaining at Floriston, and informed some of the ladies of the place, who quickly went to the assistance of the woman. The railroad officials at Truckee were informed of the situation, and a physician was dispatched by special train to Floriston. Later it was announced that a bouncing baby boy was born. The couple were Russians, husband and wife, on their way to California. The party now consisting of husband, wife and child were taken on the passenger train to Truckee by Conductor Blaney, where the Native Sons held a meeting and christened the child Frank Floriston Pikkunieni, the latter being the father's surname. At last account the mother and child were doing well and are receiving every possible attention. As neither husband or wife can converse with anybody they show appreciation of the kind treatment they receive by unmistakable signs of gratitude.

REBEKAH DEGREE LODGE.

One Instituted at Wadsworth Yesterday. W. S. Beard, Grand Master of I. O. O. F. of Nevada, B. F. Riley, Grand Representative, S. Jacobs, D. D. G. M., and Dr. W. D. Wager visited Wadsworth yesterday to institute a Lodge of the Rebekah Degree, I. O. O. F., accompanied by the following ladies of the Rebekah Degree: Mrs. J. Becker, Mrs. W. D. Wager, Mrs. G. W. Mapes, Mrs. J. Blanchard, Mrs. S. C. Kendall, Mrs. S. W. Peck, Mrs. Greenlaw, Mrs. Burton Peck, Mrs. R. C. Leeper and others whose names the reporter was unable to obtain.

A Sharp Practice.

You call it when reading an interesting article and find at its close that you've read an advertisement. Don't condemn the advertiser. You won't read the ordinary advertisement. All advertisers feel this in common with the writer who takes this means of telling you that Simmons' Liver Regulator is the best medicine for malaria, impure blood, and a poisoned system. Equally as good for indigestion and biliousness.

A Young Nevada in Washington. Paul Roux, an old Eureka young man, who has been in Washington the last few years, and who is at present Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, recently became a happy "dad." The arrival is a bouncing boy, and Paul says "he is like his pop," and being the first is the "onliest."

The Pioche Record says: "Panacea has more horses than any town in Nevada. Everybody has them, all blooded stock, horses of every color, of high and low degree, horses with pedigrees as long as your arm; horses that can run, horses that can trot, horses that can pace and horses that can fly, so if you want good stock come to Panacea."

Who Did What?

In the days when our grandmothers were girls there came occasionally into the family of a good deacon with nine children a village dressmaker. She had an absorbing interest in other people's affairs, and always looked forward with particular pleasure to the week during which she cut and fitted for the deacon's girls, knowing that his house was in some sort a social center, where she was likely to hear plenty of fresh news and entertaining anecdotes.

One day she arrived late for her work, and as she entered the house caught a glimpse of the six daughters already assembled in the family sitting room with their gowns and patterns, their work-boxes and their new roll of "Indy muslin."

But none of them were at work, for one was telling the other a story of such absorbing interest that they sat breathless and spellbound, with hands folded in their laps or needles suspended in the air.

The sight was too much for the newcomer. With one mitt on and one off, her unfastened pelisse dragging from her shoulders, her bonnet askew and its loosened strings streaming, she appeared suddenly among the astonished girls, crying as she came:

"What? What? What is it? Who did what?"

She was answered, although giving a full answer involved the retelling of the whole story, but her comprehensive inquiry became thereafter a family by-word.

Among the deacon's descendants to this day if one shows signs of too great inquisitiveness, it is sufficient for any other member of the family to ask, with a lift of the eyebrows:

"Who did what?"—Youth's Companion.

Taking Thackeray Seriously.

The obscurity in which Thackeray has left the beginning of Newcome, Bart, is an instance of his forgetfulness about his people which, glaring as it is, has hitherto escaped comment. Thomas Newcome, the elder, is said to have been "the founder" of the Newcome family. We are given to understand that he was a foundling. Up to the time of his demise there was no Newcome, Bart. Mr. Newcome "might have been made" one, but "he eschewed blood red hands." As he said, "It wouldn't do; the Quaker connection wouldn't like it."

But his twin sons by his second wife, Sophia Alethea Hobson, are stated to have been called Hobson and Brian, respectively, "after their uncle and late grandfather, whose name and rank they were destined to perpetuate."

The "rank" is clearly the Newcome baronetcy, but equally clearly the uncle and grandfather must have been Hobsons the founder of the Newcome family being "himself alone." The twins at first take order as above. Then Brian is declared to be the elder "by a quarter of an hour." He is referred to as "Mr. Brian." All at once he becomes "Sir Brian," and "perpetuates" a "rank" to which, for all that appears, he had no right whatever.—Notes and Queries.

Gold Filling for False Teeth.

"Funny business, this," remarked a dentist, turning from his workbench and addressing the reporter. "What?" "Filling false teeth. Every now and then, when we make a set of false teeth, we are asked to fill two or three of the front ones, so that the gold when the wearer smiles will shine like a darky's heel. This takes away the counterfeit appearance of the teeth to some extent. It's a counterfeit upon a counterfeit."

"Persons who have this kind of work done are willing to pay for it, and as they always want a good showing of gold, and are very particular as to the appearance of the work, we have to charge well for it. Somehow I don't like to do it. When we have made the counterfeit teeth it always seems to me that the deception goes far enough."—Indianapolis Journal.

Yankee Thrift.

The Maine man who cannot turn his hand to another source of profit when one fails him is a scarce article. An engraver and carver of old time repute, in the palmy days of Maine shipbuilding, now a resident of Kittery, finding his occupation gone as a sculptor of figure-heads for vessels, is engaged in making idols and graven images for the hearth! He has a large order that will employ most of his time for over two years, from a missionary just returned from Central Asia to this country. This missionary, by the way, is evidently something of a Yankee himself.—Kennebunk Journal.

A Novel Watch.

One of the most ingenious and inexpensive novelties of the day is a gun metal watch, keyless, and showing upon its face, through small apertures, the day, date, month and state of the moon. The watch requires only to be wound in the usual way, and when the hour of 12 o'clock—midnight—arrives, with a slight click the day and date change in a magic, although automatic, manner.—New York Journal.

Decoration.
I stood beside a simple grave
Whose headstone was the bare earth.
And sought a spot where I could place
My flowers above a hero's face.

Within a calm, secluded spot,
Where passing steps disturbed her not,
I placed the simple but well-had
O'er her who bore a soldier's lot.

Brahman Purification.

A curious story of a cow is reported by a correspondent at Payzabid, in Oude. It appears that a man of the Alur, or cowherd caste, was carrying a cow calf on his shoulders, when the animal accidentally fell, breaking its neck. Thereupon the Brahmans held a solemn conclave, at which the cowherd was sentenced to the severest form of Hindoo excommunication for six months. During this term it was ordered that he was to lead a life of mendicancy, and was to perform pilgrimages to different Hindoo shrines. The members of his family were forbidden to supply him with either shelter or food under penalty of undergoing similar excommunication.

The Alur is reported to have now returned to his village, but until the purification ceremonies are over he must live in a temporary grass thatched house erected for his residence. It now remains for a man of the lowest and most degraded caste to purify him. After shaving the deliquescent hair and nails, he will make over the hair and nails to the Brahmans, who will burn them and also set fire to the hut. After this the Alur will jingle into the river Sarji, and come out purified, but his troubles are yet by no means at an end. Not till after he has feasted fifty Brahmans and his brethren will he be readmitted to caste fellowship.—London News.

A Public Benefactor Dead.

William Toomey, familiarly known as old Bill Toomey, died at 10:30 o'clock Friday night. This is a case where death had all the alleviating circumstances possible. For forty years old Bill Toomey laid out the dead of this town, man, woman and child, without exception. He never would accept any remuneration for these kindly services, always rejecting money and saying, "It's a real pleasure to me and no trouble at all."

His wife's laundry shop supported him and her comfortably, and it soon became evident that old Bill Toomey was ready and anxious to come at all hours of the day and night, rain or shine, winter and summer. To make sure that no one would lay out without him he fell into the habit of keeping careful account of all the sick, and made his rounds of inquiry each evening. Several times, when sick persons were not expected to live through the night, Mr. Toomey spent the night watching the use of sickness, without regard to his health or the weather.—Aristotle (Ind.) Cor. New York Sun.

Taking It Literally.

A man in Leeds, England, looked a gift horse in the mouth the other day with profitable results. The keeper of a skating rink had advertised "A great fancy costume carnival," and by way of stimulating the invention of his patrons he promised that the wearer of the most original costume should be rewarded with a watch of the value of many dollars. The man who won the watch took it to a jeweler, who said the time-piece was worth only twenty.

The winner, therefore, applied to the courts for redress. The skating rink proprietor defended himself with the plea that the giving of the prize was a purely voluntary act, and the recipient should not take the giver's estimate too literally. The judge, however, took a different view and gave judgment for the plaintiff for ninety dollars.—London Letter.

Waited Twelve Years.

Vaclav Koran and Elizabeth Frederick were made husband and wife by Justice Daniel L. Wheeler, of Chicago, Friday afternoon on the authority of a marriage certificate issued Sept. 27, 1881, eleven years ago. The license bore the signature of County Clerk E. F. C. Klokke. Koran is now forty-three years old, and she two years older. The obstacle which had kept apart their yearning hearts so many years was the veto of an angry father. A year ago the father died, and after waiting twelve months for propriety's sake the constant lovers were married—Exchange.

NOTICE NOT CONTENDED "At Home."

"At home" days are beginning to get out of fashion in London, and the women who held them with irritating regularity once a week are now reducing them to once a month, and a few of those who found them most irksome have, with admirable cuteness, fixed them on "fifth Mondays, Tuesdays," etc., to limit them to one day in two or three months. One lady, who had become particularly annoyed at missing all the best things of the winter, which she declares came always on "her day," for the sake of seeing a lot of people she did not want to see and receiving a shower of pasteboard from the friends she did not want to see, says that next year she is going to observe as her "at home" day the second Sunday in the week.—London Letter.

Racing With Wolves.

Many a thrilling tale has been told by travelers of a race with wolves across the frozen steppes of Russia. Sometimes only the picked bones of the hapless traveler are found to tell the tale. In our own country thousands are engaged in a life-and-death race against the wolf Consulphom. The best weapons with which to fight the foe, is Dr. Piero's Golden Medical Discovery. This renowned remedy has cured myriads of cases when all other medicines and doctors had failed. It is the greatest blood-purifier and restorer of strength known to the world. For all forms of scrofulous affections (and consumption is one of them), it is unequalled as a remedy.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

A Useful Woman's Encyclopedia. It is the intention of the board of lady managers of the World's fair to publish a encyclopedia which is to be the most complete record of woman's work ever given to the public, and they wish it understood that no band of women is too large or too small to find a place in this historic record. All organizations are requested to assist in this work by answering the following questions, which have been issued: Name; date or organization; names of officers; address of headquarters of corresponding secretary; number of charter members; present membership; what are the aims of your society? Have you any educational features? If so, what are they? Source of income; annual expenditures; how nearly self supporting. Remarks.

This special line of work has been placed by the president in care of Mrs. Helen M. Barker, to whom all responses should be directed.—Chicago Letter.

A Woman Commands a Coal Barge.

The barge Edith McDermott is at the dock here and is discharging a cargo of coal. This barge does not differ from the others that ply between this city and the coal ports, only that it is owned and captained by a woman, whose husband died about six years ago and left her with two children. Her husband formerly commanded the barge, and when he died she continued in the trade, and has managed her business affairs with great success. Besides the barge of which she takes charge, she owns three others that are engaged in the same trade.

Her husband was a sailor, and she is full of business as any man engaged in the same vocation. She carries two mules aboard the boat for furnishing power to hoist the coal out of the hold.—Middletown (Conn.) Letter.
